- If we believe disclosure is necessary or appropriate to protect the rights, property, or safety of the Organization, our customers, or others. This could include exchanging information with other companies and organizations for the purposes of fraud protection and credit risk reduction.

06. Choices About How We Use and Disclose Your Information

We strive to provide you with choices regarding the personal information you provide to us. We have created mechanisms to provide you with the following control over your information:

- Tracking Technologies and Advertising. You can set your browser to refuse all or some browser cookies, or to alert you when cookies are being sent. If you disable or refuse cookies, please note that some parts of this site may then be inaccessible or not function properly.
- If you do not wish to have your contact information used by the Organization to promote our own or third parties' products or services, you can opt-out at any times by sending us an email stating your request to connect@thedueprocessproject.org. If we have sent you a promotional email, you may send us a return email asking to be omitted from future email distributions. This opt out does not apply to information provided to the Organization because of a purchase, warranty registration, product service experience or other transactions.
- We do not control third parties' collection or use of your information to serve interest-based advertising. However, these third parties may provide you with ways to choose not to have your information collected or used in this way. You can opt out of receiving targeted ads from members of the Network Advertising Initiative ("NAI") on the NAI's website.

07. Assessing and Correcting your Information

You may also send us an email at assistant@thedueprocessproject.org to request access to, correct or delete any personal information that you have provided to us. We cannot delete your personal information except by also deleting your user account. We may not accommodate a request to change information if we believe the change would violate any law or legal requirement or cause the information to be incorrect.

If you delete your User Contributions from the Website, copies of your User Contributions may remain viewable in cached and archived pages or might have been copied or stored by other Site users.

08. California Residents

If you are a California resident, California law may provide you with additional rights regarding our use of your personal information. To learn more about your California privacy rights, visit <https://oag.ca.gov/privacy/ccpa>.

09. Information We Collect from Children

The Site does not target children under the age of 13. Parents may notify us at any time their desire to remove their children's personal information from the Site. Please review the Children's Privacy Rights Policy under COPPA to learn more.

10. Data Security

The Organization has implemented measures designed to secure your personal information from accidental loss and from unauthorized access, use, alteration, and disclosure. All information you provide to us is stored on our secure servers behind firewalls. Any payment transactions and related information will be encrypted.

The safety and security of your information also depends on you. Where the Organization has given you (or where you have chosen) a password for access to certain parts of our Site, or affiliate sites, you are responsible for keeping this password confidential. We ask you not to share your password with anyone. The Organization urges you to be careful about giving out information in public areas of the Site like message boards. The information you share in public areas may be viewed by any user of the Site, their actions we cannot control.

Unfortunately, the transmission of information via the internet is not completely secure. Although we do our best to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee the security of your personal information transmitted to our Site. Any transmission of personal information is at your own risk. We are not responsible for circumvention of any privacy settings or security measures contained on the Site.

11. Changes to Our Privacy Policy

It is our policy to post any changes we make to our privacy policy on this page. If we make material changes to how we treat our users' personal information, we will notify you by email to the email address provided by you in your account and/or through a notice on the Site home page. The date the privacy policy was last revised is identified at the top of the page. You are responsible for ensuring we have an up-to-date active and deliverable email address for you, and for periodically visiting our Site and this privacy policy to check for any changes.

12. Contact Information

To ask questions or comment, register a complaint or concern, related to the Organization's Privacy Policy and/or the Organization's privacy practices, please contact us at: assistant@thedueprocessproject.org
